For Sale—1919 Ford touring car. Ray Shaw, at Overland garage. A 43. H. P. Thom went to Denver Saturday to attend the funeral of his uncle.—Quinter Advocate.

Just as we go to press we learn of the sad news of the death of Mrs. Robert Kessler. Obituary next week. Miss Clara McClellan went to her home in Topeka Wednesday night where she will remain until High School opens.

The party who borrowed a corn sheller from Jacob Loyd will please return it to O. A. Cortright or Cal Loyd. Adv. 34.

The farmers are all smiles on account of the big snow and rain.

L. G. Johnson made a business trip to Topeka this week.

Jno Spenn, one day this week, was distributing the neatest calendars we have seen so far this season. He is advertising Ford cars for which he is agent.

Bert Groft is home on a twelve days furlough from the Great Lakes naval station. He looks good in his sailor clothes and says he likes the life fine.

For Sale—Ford touring car cheap. First check for $275.00 takes it; 3 year old Galloway bull; 3 milk cows; some household goods. J. J. Shackelford, 7 miles east and 3 miles north of Wa-Keeney. Adv. 42.

Billie Jones was up from Topeka the last of the week dressed in his soldier uniform. Billie can't get away from the fact that he likes to visit Wa-Keeney and that there is attractions here for him.

Wm. Cox was down from Collyer Wednesday afternoon. As a real estate man would say "this snow is worth a million dollars to Trego county farmers." Bill didn't say this but he felt it in his bones.

Don't junk your old farm machinery just because you have a broken casting and you can't afford to buy another one; bring the broken part to the Overland Garage and Woerner, the expert welder, will make it as good as new. Adv. 43.

The daily papers state that Martin Lofstead, of Ogallah, is listed among the slightly wounded; Henry W. Schaefer, of Ogallah, and John Klenk, of Graham county, severely wounded and that Robert McKinley, of South Trego is among the missing.

Mrs. F. C. Wollner returned home last Saturday night after a number of weeks in Christ's Hospital at Topeka where she very successfully underwent a severe surgical operation. Her many friends are glad to know that she is now making splendid progress toward recovery.

Very handsome wedding invitations are out announcing that Miss Hazel Rae, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Rea, of Hays, will be united in marriage to Mr. John William Faville on Saturday evening, December 28th, at the Rea residence. They will be at home to their friends after the 18th of January at Lake Mills, Wisconsin. They have many friends here who extend sincerest good wishes.

"A soldier of the legion lay dying in Algiers; there was lack of woman's nursing, there was dearth of woman's tears." But it should not happen, not again, and although there may be American soldiers in far-away "Bingen on the Rhine," they should not suffer for want of woman's sympathetic care. That is made certain by the dollar you are giving to the American Red Cross. Is your name written there?

For the Red Cross the war is not over so long as there are sick men to nurse, naked children to clothe, destitute mothers to be helped, the aged and infirm to be housed and wounds to be healed, and in all these lines needs and opportunities are greater than before in the last four years. The armistice has liberated many wounded prisoners and given the Red Cross access to the needy and an opportunity to relieve suffering in France, Belgium, Poland, Serbia and Armenia, which it has not had before. We have won the victory on the field of battle, let us not be slackers and deserters from the army in the field of human relief. Join the Red Cross for 1919.

The first Christmas of the New Peace

THERE is every cause this year for jubilation and thankfulness—every reason for the merriest Christmas we have ever enjoyed.

But will it be the old-fashioned, thoughtless Christmas of yesterday—or will it be an expression of the new National Spirit, as typified by the Red Cross and the work it is doing.

That work must go on, of course. We must not forget the sufferings and privations of our war-torn friends across the sea.

In our own great contentment and happiness let us express our pride in the Red Cross—every one of us—and our confidence in its humanitarian work for all.

Let this be a Red Cross Christmas with full membership in every American home.

In the article of last week two errors crept in.

Of the seven divisions named as taking part in the Marne fight that of the 1st Division was omitted by the printer and instead of the 90th Division which I inadvertently named it was parts of the 93d Division.

In the Army of Occupation the 35th was first given out by Gen. March but now it seems that the 35th is scheduled for home coming and the entire Army of Occupation consists of the 1st, 2nd, 3d, 4th, 5th, 7th, 28th, 32nd, 33rd, 42nd, 79th, 89th and 90th Divisions.

This will keep the 353d or All-Kansas Regiment and by far the greater part of the volunteer Trego boys who are overseas, except such as are in the Aero Squads, Ammunition and Supply Trains, etc.

It is very difficult to locate such units as above named together with Tank Companies, Engineer Corps, Replacement Battalions and casual Detachments of all kinds not usually assigned to particular Divisions.

Our Regular Divisions have not been heralded over the country the same as some others who have correspondents but the fact is that the first four have been in almost continuous action from March to the signing of the armistice. The First was in Picardy and won the fight at Cantigny. The Second with the British was hurried to the Marne and won the railroad station at Bourches and Village of Vaux and along with the First was given the positions of honor in the thrust toward Soissons.

The 6th Marines were in the 2nd I believe and two more of the Stanton boys in also either with the 2nd or 4th Divisions. I wish I could name the places held by all our boys in the time of real danger and sacrifice.

Complete line of children's rockers at the furniture store. Adv. 42.

Miss Agnes Poffenberger was confined to the house this week with the "flu."

Al Schimkowitz is another Trego county soldier boy who is home for good.

Privates Rex Morgan and Vernon Bonds are home from the army having received honorable discharges.

Harold Perry, who has been attending S. A. T. C., is now home again having been discharged last week.

Mrs. J. H. Marcy, of South Trego, and daughter, Mrs. Harry Allison, of Falm, Kans., were in the city the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Ed Coen, of Banner, is very low with pneumonia.

Farmers! Don't forget to get your castings welded at the Overland garage. Adv. 43.

We notice in the Collyer Advance that Mrs. Owen Scanlon is marketing a can of cream each week that nets her $16.00. This is the kind of a wife to have.

Commissioner Hamm shipped a car of cattle to Kansas City last week and received a good price. On his way home he stopped off to see his two sons, who are working his farm seven miles south of Topeka.

Mrs. W. Y. Herrick and daughter, Miss Lacey, of Wa-Keeney, arrived at the home of Dr. S. C. Herrick, Miss Lacey had been attending school in Kansas City and her mother went there to spend Thanksgiving with her. The schools at that place having closed they are on their way to their home in Wa-Keeney where Miss Herrick will remain until after Christmas.—Russell Record.

Thoroughbred Holstein Bull Calves

I have some (registered) Holstein bull calves for sale. These calves are from my new bull (King Pontiac Occidental), one of the best Holstein blood lines in the Holstein breed. I have also picked my dams from the best herds in Kansas.

The senate finance committee has amended the war revenue bill reported this week, reducing letter postage to two cents, effective July 1; and fixing a flat rate of 1 1-2 cents per pound on newspapers and periodicals going more than fifty miles, repealing the crazy zone law now in operation. This goes into effect upon its passage. Senator Lodge's amendment providing for a ten per cent tax on products of child labor was also adopted.—Rooks County Record.

A well known Jewell City woman came storming into the Robertson store with a bill in her hand. The first item read, pot 50c; second item S. pot. 35c. She declared she had bought no such articles and would never pay for them. The clerks gathered around and, sobering their faces, explained that pot. stood for potatoes and S. pot. stood for sweet potatoes, all of which had been sent down. Then the woman discovered that a trap had been set for her by somebody who owed her one, and that she had walked into it.—Jewell County Republican.
